Cals - AI Calories Tracking

Cal-AI is an intelligent calorie tracking application designed to simplify and enhance dietary management. It uses image recognition and natural language processing (NLP) to accurately log meals; users can simply snap a photo or describe what they ate for automatic calorie and macro-nutrient estimation. The app provides personalized insights, tracks progress toward fitness and health goals, and offers dietary recommendations based on user input and historical data, making it an efficient tool for users committed to a data-driven approach to nutrition.
